Using select botanicals sourced from the grounds and greenhouses of Chatsworth, this classic London dry gin is distilled by Peak Ales on the Chatsworth Estate. What makes this gin extra special is the inclusion of banana leaf from the Cavendish bananas; the herbal quality of these balance the citrus notes perfectly

The Cavendish banana was brought to Chatsworth in 1820 by the 6th Duke of Devonshire's head gardener, Joseph Paxton. Paxton named the banana plant "Musa Cavenishi" after his employer, William George Spencer Cavendish. Today all export bananas and almost half of all bananas grown worldwide are from the dwarf Cavendish cultivar

CHATSWORTH ROSE GIN (40%)

Although it is in fact a clear gin, the subtle perfume of the roses is evident and the petals impart a slightly sweet finish.

Roses have been synonymous with the garden at Chatsworth since 1939, when Duchess Mary, wife of the 10th Duke, remodelled the original French Garden into a Rose Garden. She enclosed it with a yew hedge and planted hybrid tea roses including Buff Beauty, Felicia and Savoy Hotel
